ORGANIC & BIODYNAMIC WINES

Organic and biodynamic are very similar; both are grown without chemicals and GMOs. However, biodynamic goes one step further. While organic agriculture will focus on replacing chemicals by natural products, Biodynamic will use preparations to nurture the soil that will help the plant produce its own energizing forces. By increasing bacteria life in the soil, the winemaker provides the best possible environment for the plant to strengthen its vital energy which is one of the most important feature in a wine, not the alcohol degree.

DOMAINE DE LA BONGRAN GRAND VIN DE BOURGOGNE Jean THEVENET Vigneron

"Jean Thevenet said, "It was a difficult vintage, but if you got it right and harvested at the right time, you could make really good wines. It was important to never lose your cool." His 2004 Vire-Clesse Cuvee Tradition offers a mouth-watering nose of anise and white truffles. On the palate, this light to medium-bodied effort reveals flavors of honeyed apples, spices, minerals, and candied pears. Fresh, expressive, and long in the finish."

COGNAC TESSERON

The Tesson's range is specifically labelled as 'lots', a term rarely used in Charente. As Alfred Tesson explains: "These 'lots' are in fact blends – or perhaps more precisely mariages – taken from our reserve stocks in order to favour more aromas, structure and complexity". Although it is not possible to use the term 'vintages' with regards to Cognac under current regulations, these 'lots' reflect an average age of cognac blends taken from the very best years in cognac production.

Tesson Extrême, Grande Champagne, Cognac 1er Cru

It is so rare that even specialists only speak of it as a memory of flavours long sought and never found. Velvety and supple on the palate, its exceptional mellowness is matched only by its infinitely complex depth. Its "rancio" nose, the result of long years of ageing in oak casks, is smooth and harmonious. It opens up in waves of countless secondary aromas, whose tones get stronger and stronger, and then ends with a nice, soft finish. Its exceptionally long-lingering taste is an irrefutable pledge of quality.

MINERAL WATER

SAINT GERON

EAU MINERALE NATURELLE, NATURELLEMENT GAZEUSE

A mythical gallo-roman 100% natural sparkling water.

The mineral spring of Saint Geron in Auvergne, France, has a long and proud natural history.

This sparkling mineral water is the result of a voyage lasting more than a 1000 years starting with a rainfall, seeping into the soil and following crevices deep down into the earth. Enriched by minerals picked up during this interminable voyage, it sprouts to the surface with a burst of purity. Rich in calcium and Magnesium, the finesse of its delicate bubbles as well as its medicinal values has earned it showers of awards and recommendations as an aid against many sicknesses.

A beautiful bottle, an ideal presentation, matching the importance of its history, its finesse and its subterranean freshness was created by Alberto Bali, painter and designer.
